Clinton County Electric Cooperative wins statewide safety award

Clinton County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Breese, was one of six cooperatives in the state awarded a safety leadership award at the 2017 Association of Illinois Electric Cooperative's Safety Supervisory Technical Conference held at the Decatur Hotel & Conference Center January 31 through February 2. In the past, safety awards were given based on the lowest number of lost time accidents. Based on recommendations from the Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA), these safety awards are now presented more on proactive safety practices that improve the safety culture within the cooperative.

"The award is based on adopting best practices, not just a low number of lost time accidents," says Jim Miles, Manager of Safety and Loss Control for the AIEC. "The idea is to encourage sharing
